 June 2010

President's Message June, 2010

I want to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation to all of you who worked so hard to make this year such a great success... and given college scholarships to deserving Fallbrook Union High School students, and we've displayed our members' art work in a variety of places, including the Bob Burton Center, the Edward Jones Financial office, the Open Juried Show at the Art Center, and various offices around town.

The Plein Air group will coordinate artist demonstrations at the opening of the new library next Spring. Artists will set up easels or small tables and create while explaining their processes to visitors. Be sure to get your name on their list as space may be limited.

Warmly, Karen Langer Baker

it's not over yet! BJ Wilson will demonstrate her painting techniques at our June meeting and will also conduct a workshop the following Saturday. In addition, the Brush Lady will be showing and teaching us about various types of paintbrushes and will have them at the meeting for you to purchase.

Our roster of directors and committee chairs for 2010-11 was presented at our May meeting. Although all positions are filled, we welcome your input and hope you'll volunteer to help throughout the next year with an eye toward taking over some of these positions. The Board will continue to meet during the summer to prepare for the fall season and the upcoming Open Judged Show, which will take place in November at the Fallbrook Art Center. These meetings are open to all FAA members, so if you want to get more involved, please let me know and I'll give you the time and place.

Our stated objectives are to be a social and educational organization, promoting the understanding and appreciation of art through art shows, displays and programs. We have had an art demonstration and workshop every month, we've gone into Camp Pendleton through our Art Assist program as volunteer art teachers, we've

Color Demonstration

B. J. Wilson, our guest demonstrator, has been in the Art Business for a long time. First at Bullocks Westwood in the Display Dept.. She worked in between classes, sometimes doing their newspaper ads. Advertising agencies in downtown Los Angeles were next. She freelanced as a graphic designer, but it was a feast or famine situation. There was no time to play tennis if times were good and jobs were coming in. She coached students at Woodbury College the semester before they graduated and then became an Art Director for a small agency in Hollywood, where she did it all, except airbrush retouching and hand lettering.

"I found the best of the best for me," she says, "When I discovered that teaching enthusiastic adults was such a pleasure." When she lectured at SM College for a number of years, her classes were always larger at the end of the semester than they were at the beginning. Later she moved East and taught painting at the Americal

University in Washington, D.C. where the painting style was quite different than in California. "We have sunshine and a distant horizon. They had mountains in your face." Today, in addition to painting, she lectures, teaches one class per week, judges shows (San Bernardino County Fair in May, 2010) and takes good painters to Western Europe to paint for three weeks, sometimes offering University credit. For example, three weeks of painting, museum trips and unforgettable experiences for three credits. "Everybody works hard and it's great!"

What is she doing now to keep busy? She says, "I am writing a book!"

Welcome back to Fallbrook, B.J.

WORKSHOP ON SATURDAY THE 19TH

Directions for the small drawings you will use:

Make 5 drawings on substantial paper (6X6 with at least an inch border on all 4 sides). If they are larger, they will take too long to do.

Do one and trace off the rest. No scenes. Think of something with interesting overlapping shapes. (e.g. group of fruits, vegetables closely cropped, plant forms, abstract shapes, etc.) Some small shapes will give you room to maneuver.

Supplies

(Acrylic will be easier)

All your colors, palette, brushes, water holder, pencil, ballpoint pen. Lunch or nibbles.
